Jitney And Street Car In Collision

—A serious accident was narrowly averted at noon today when a Donora-Monessen jitney was struck by the street car in front of Racy's department store. The automobile was attempting to pass a wagon and the driver was unable to see the car coming on account of the side curtains. The jitney slid fully fifty feet before it could be stopped but was not damaged. The driver of the jitney got out and cranked the car "and the little old Ford rambled right along."

EGG HOGS PUT OUT OF BUSINESS

New York, N. Y., Nov. 23—The "egg kings" who planned to garner a financial harvest by selling their goods to the allies at war time prices are wigwagging to the public for help. The allies didn't buy as expected. Hence, the "kings" have been caught with a surplus, complicated by prospects of a mild winter which promises to make the hens lay more than usual.

In 24 cold storage plants are over 1,000,000,000 eggs, or 10 eggs apiece for everybody in the United States. Unless housewives come to the rescue and buy storage goods, several of the egg brokers will face financial ruin.

While prices are still well up, a few more weeks of mild weather may send the storage products down to 20 cents a dozen.

GREAT CONTEST INTERESTING MANY AMBITIOUS PERSONS

Now is the time to enter the big voting contest. Get started early and secure votes that others will get if you delay.

Have you entered the race for the Overland Touring Car, piano, diamond ring, and other valuable prizes to be given away by the Daily Independent, or are you still thinking it over? The quicker you make up your mind, the better opportunity you will have, you know. Better do it now. Others are entering. Several valuable prizes are to be won. You may as well be one of the winners.

A prominent business man, anxious that no mistake be made in having his candidate properly enrolled, who by the way, is a faithful stenographer, sent one of the boys from his office, to secure full data on the plan of nomination. A generous employer. The candidate of such a man deserves success.

Some Questions Answered

Here are some of the questions asked over the telephone and the answers:

"On what date will the first count of the votets be published?"

"On Saturday, Nov. 27th.

"How soon can I bring in subscriptions?"

"At once; they will be taken care of."

"When can my friends begin working for me?"

"The sooner the better."

These and a few more questions are keeping the contest department busy, but we invite all who want to know about the contest to call up or write the contest manager who will be found at the Independent office, where prompt attention will be given all inquiries.

The Independent never does anything in halves, and if we say it ourselves, there was never an opportunity offered to the people of Westmoreland county to receive such valuable awards for such little work as we are giving you in this contest. Just think what it will mean to win that Overland touring car.

In securing these prizes, our first thought was to make them well worth the winning. In this we have succeeded. Who does not want a touring car? This question is easily answered. Then the question arises, how can it be procured? A careful reading of the page advertisement which appears on the inside of this paper will give you the desired information.

Talk to Your Friends

If a person should approach you and offer to give you six hundred dollars without consideration, you'd entertain doubts as to his sanity, wouldn't you? Of course you would. But if he named some favor that you might perform it, wouldn't you consider the proposition? Again, of course you would. We are offering a list of five prizes to the winners, and all we are asking you to do in return is to secure subscriptions to the Daily Independent. You'll never know how easy it is until you have tried.

In the advertisement today we have tried to tell you about this contest, and the way you can secure one of these prizes. Anything you do not understand about it, we will be glad to make plain to you. Your friends will help you; try them. See if they won't. Tell them that you want the touring car or any of the prizes we are offering. Explain to them that it will cost them nothing, that all you want them to do is subscribe to the Independent. They'll quickly see the point, and you will not have any trouble to have them subscribe. Try it.

THANKSGIVING DAY AT STAR THEATRE

Thanksgiving day at the Star, Manager McShaffrey will offer another fine picture for the approval of his patrons—C. Aubrey Smith in "The Builder of Bridges."

Edward Thursfield, chief engineer of the bridge construction firm of Henry Killick & Co., returns home from the field and is introduced to Arnold Faringay, a young man recently placed in charge of his accounts. Arnold is a member of a respected family. His sister, Dorothy is entrusted in their father's will with the care of Arnold and their younger sister Ruth, and the responsibility of their heavily mortgaged house.

Arnold has become attracted by the glowing stories of a clerk named Welch, formerly employed in the same office, but discharged for gambling. Becoming deeply involved, Arnold takes twenty thousand dollars from the payroll, charging it to Thursfield's account for the huge bridge. The chief engineer's return drives Arnold to desperation. He is unable to borrow the necessary money from Walter Gresham, his sister Dorothy's fiance, who refuses to save him. Arnold returns to his home and is about to end it all when his sister Dorothy finds him and wrenches the revolver from his hand. This brings about a confession from Arnold and Dorothy sees the name of Faringay in danger of disgrace.

The rest of the story tells how the sister goes about to save her brother's honor. A great picture. See it at the Star Thursday.

THANKSGIVING MESSAGE

The annual Thanksgiving festival recalls to the American people once more the luminous and comforting thought that above every other national characteristic this is peculiarly and happily the land of homes. The season of thanksgiving ordered each year in set phase by the President of the United States and by the governors of the several states, is quite frequently made the subject of derision from one source or another. One hypocritical objector declares that we misuse the occasion to make a glutinous revel out of what we ought to make a season of penitence and prayer for national sins. Still another pious critic declares that all the hyperbole of executive message and the invitation to give thanks to Almighty God for His many blessings is but a shallow and meaningless price of political hypocracy. Others there are who insist that with each returning Thanksgiving period the nation is plunged still deeper into sin and apostasy from the principles and purposes laid down in the Constitution by the founders of the republic. According to these self constituted joy killers, the American people are going to ruin at a break neck speed, and instead of making a hollow pretense of joyful thanksgiving, should be down on our knees praying to have averted the calamities that are certainly going to overtake us.

Perhaps there is a measure of truth in the assertion that the United States needs at this juncture in its history a careful and prayerful spirit. There are great evils, public and private, to be overcome, and much wrong and misery of an individual and collective kind to be righted. Instead, however, of putting on sackcloth and transforming the baked meats (including turkey) of Thanksgiving day into a funeral feast, the American people will tomorrow, cheerfully assemble in their homes and in their places of worship and joyfully thank the Creator for blessings and comforts of a national and individual life that cannot be excelled anywhere on the globe.

We have our troubles in this country, some of them native to the soil, but the majority are imported from other lands. Our trusts and syndicates are not always willing to accept a reasonable share of profit from the consumers. Sometimes bank presidents go astray, and the political game is not always played wholly in the interests of the people. The divorce evil, grafted upon our social body by foreign invasion, but made at home in this country, is greatly on the increase. Great wealth has in some instances provoked great social vice, corrupted many innocent victims and broken up happy homes. Child labor, graft, extravagant living in the large centers of population, and a caloused public conscience, are all dangers that confront the American nation.

But as a nation America has her eyes open. There is no stumbling along in the dark. The very presence of Thanksgiving day in our calendar and the celebration of it once each year as the great home festival of the nation, is proof of the national vigor and moral healthfulness. Beyond the missmas of American political, social and economic evils, twinkle brightly the lights of millions of American homes, around whose firesides the youth and old age of the land again gathered to celebrate the homely old Puritan feast day. These homes are in the main as pure and as patriotic as were those of the New England founders of the republic, and a vast sight more alert, more intelligent and more comfortable. Along with modern evils has come the modern sense of danger, allied with the sturdy old American principle of courage and unfaltering faith in the national head and in the God of all nations.

Let us partake of our Thanksgiving day dinner with the true spirit of thankfulness, and with all the gustatory relish that naturally belongs to normal, healthy humanity without being ashamed of the prevalent evidence of our prosperity. As far as in us lies, let us help the unfortunate; think straight, vote right and part calumniators of the nation's present and future. There are more homes in America today than ever before, and more real, true, happy homes from which is radiating the prayerful Thanksgiving cheer that is ours.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live. Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefitted by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

Take Your Medicine Too Late to Kick Now

In commenting upon the football game between Charleroi and Monessen High school teams Saturday, the sporting writer of the Charleroi Mail blames the defeat upon a series of misfortunes, such as the removal of Stahlman for slugging, the tripping of McKinley by a Charleroi player, the bad pass by the Charleroi center when the ball was near the Monessen goal, the removal of Richey for breaking the rules and playing on an independent team, and last but not least the failure of Charleroi players to down Conti when he was making a long run for a touchdown. Still they claim the best team did not win. The best team certainly did not have the above faults in their working machine and the best team did not win by one game, but made the title of champions secure by defeating every other team who disputed their claim and if the Monessen High school football players are not champions, we would like to know who is?

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.

It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Peoples Forum

This column is devoted to the expression of the opinion of our readers and in no wise denotes the paper's opinion on or sympathy with any question involved.

Editor Daily Independent:

I noticed in your paper last week about the insurance rates going up and I hope that by next year this time you will write the other way.

Now I just want to tell some facts. The people of Monessen can well thank the young men of the fire department more than they really do, as Monessen has got one of the best Volunteer fire departments in the country. Danger or ruining of suits is not thought of when an alarm comes in. Rain or shine, night or day the boys are there, and let anything come up for the benefit of the town, who are the first to take part in sports or anything else? The young men of the Volunteer fire department put their shoulders to the wheel and it goes and as the younger ones grow up, they fall in line and the wheel goes round.

Now why is it a town like Monessen, the largest in the county, and the largest revenue getter to the county with the largest amount of capital invested of any city in the county, has to pay the most insurance rate, stop and look.

First we have a fire truck we can be proud of, but that is not going to reduce insurance when there is no alarm system in the town to make it work. By not having an alarm system we lose two-thirds of the value of the truck. Look around in other towns far smaller than Monessen. They have no truck like ours, but they have an alarm system. Why should not Monessen have an alarm system and keep up with the other towns according to their valuation. Stop and think. Something that will help everybody, help push it along. Second, look at the size of the town, then look at the amount of hose there is on hand to fight fires with and it will answer all questions with the one before.

Now as the town has kept up with all other improvements, why overlook this. We only realize this danger when we see the smoke or flames, then the good firemen are angels. When everything is clear we forget about the good firemen. Give them the alarm system and hose with what they have and you will not hear them grumble. Buy their lot, build a city building and make quarters for them and you will see the boys laugh. Treat them like they treat you in time of trouble and all will be lovely again. Think of this end of improvement which must keep pace with the others. Go to council's next meeting and help the boys get an alarm system as it comes up to them for action and the boys will thank you I know.

Yours for the town,
Worker for the Cause.

A NATION OF DYSPEPTICS

American people are called. This condition is due to our habit of hurried eating, and so many different foods at the same meal. In advanced life the system cannot adapt itself to the strain and stomach troubles result. To strengthen and build up the digestive organs our local druggists, the Hirsch Drug Co., have a reliable constitutional remedy known as Vinol. It vitalizes and enriches the blood, promotes a healthy appetite and creates strength for the weakened, overtaxed nerves of the stomach.

BILLIE RITCHIE

This is the first time we ever had a three reel comedy with Billie Ritchie, supported by Louis Orth and Henry Bergman, directed by the famous Pathe Lehrman. Peoples Forum

This column is devoted to the expression of the opinion of our readers and in no wise denotes the paper's opinion on or sympathy with any question involved.

Only a short time until Christmas will be here. Peace and good will be everywhere. Contentment and a spirit of happiness in homes throughout the land. Fathers and mothers, sons and daughters all unite to bring to the homes that spirit of happiness that should be the portion of all at this time. Will there be peace and happiness and rejoicing in your home? Will you come home on Christmas eve a source of pride to the fond eyes that watch your going and coming, or will you bring a fresh burden of shame and humiliation to add to their burdens of the past year, to dim the spirit of Christmas cheer that should be theirs?

Only a few more days until Christmas. What an opportunity to surprise them on Christmas morning to come into the family circle with sparkling eyes and youthful buoyance of step, with the color in your cheeks that speaks of quiet, steady nerves, with the self confident poise of the man who feels he has control of himself.

Only a few days more until Christmas. But there is plenty of time for you as a man to make up your mind that for once you will resolve with God's help to surprise the dear patient wife, the one who promised at the marriage altar that you would love and protect. And resolve in the remaining few days until Christmas that you will surprise your dear children by staying with them on Christmas day, enter into their joys and their games, instead of spending time and money at the club, then going home to have the children afraid of you.

Men, did you ever think about it? If not, stop and consider how much better you would be if you was to spend your Christmas, and not only Christmas but all times with your wife and children and spend your time in serving Him who brought "Peace on earth and good will to men."
